According to the serial number-year made table in my reference book, the gun was made in 1934. This was after Crescent Fire Arms went out of business but the replacement company, Crescent -Davis Arms Corporation continued to assemble guns using left over parts until about 1938. This gun will have either a 2 9/16 or 2 3/4 inch chamber and if in good condition, should be safe to shoot using appropriate ammunition.
