In accounting, equity (or owner's equity) is the difference between the value of the assets and the value of the liabilities of something owned. It is governed by the following equation: $\text{Equity} = \text{Assets} - \text{Liabilities}$ For example, if someone owns a car worth \$15,000 (an asset), but owes \$5,000 on a loan against that car (a liability), the car represents \$10,000 of equity.

A stock derivative is any financial instrument for which the underlying asset is the price of an equity. Futures and options are the main types of derivatives on stocks. The underlying security may be a stock index or an individual firm's stock, e.g. single-stock futures.. Stock futures are contracts where the buyer is long, i.e., takes on the obligation to buy on the contract maturity date ...
