The report concludes that the 20 percent who had some journalism involvement during high school scored higher than the other 80 percent. According to Dvorak, this shows "conclusively that high school journalism experience translates into better college performance in several key areas, such as the ability to express oneself clearly and reason incisively."

Journalism in antiquity. While publications reporting news to the general public in a standardized fashion only began to appear in the 17th century and later, governments as early as Han dynasty China made use of regularly published news bulletins. Similar publications were established in the Republic of Venice in the 16th century. These bulletins, however, were intended only for government ...
